

AS YOU LAW IT – NEGOTIATING SHAKESPEARE

Edited by Daniela Carpi and François Ost

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction

François Ost

Introduction 1: As You Law It...: Of Certain Objects and Functions of Ambiguity in Shakespearean Theatre

Daniela Carpi

Introduction 2: Shakespeare and the Law: State of the Art

Part One: The Body Politic and Power Politics

Daniela Carpi

King John or the Proliferation of the Word of Authority

Chiara Battisti

Richard III: Between Dis-Ability and Dis-Order

Sidia Fiorato

The Performance of the Body Politic in Richard III

Gilad Ben-Nun

The Subjugation of International Law to Power Politics and Mystery of State (“Arcana Imperii”) in Shakespeare’s Henry V

Part Two: Ethnicity and Alterity

Heinz Antor

Ethnicity, Alterity and the Law in Shakespeare’s The Merchant of Venice

Paul Raffield

Shakespeare’s Twin Brother: Foreigners, Outlaws, and The Comedy of Errors

Part Three: Legal Theory

Jeanne Gaakeer

Fuss about a Footnote, or the Struggle for (the) Law in German Legal Theory

François Ost

Measure for Measure: Are Criminal Laws Made to be Applied?

Filippo Sgubbi

Measure in Penal Law

Carlo Pelloso

Are the Conspirators Purgers or Murderers? Shakespeare's Julius Caesar and Roman Ius Sacrum

Part Four: Performance

Gary Watt

Notes on A Strange Eventful History

Marett Leiboff

"Stir Up the Australian Youth to Merriment": A Midsummer Night's Dream, Summer 1989–1990 (Sydney, Australia) and the Theatrical Transmutability of Law's Texts

Contributors

Index